Woman Claims Hampden Ave. Merchants Still Doing Business

Mrs. G. W. Marshall, resident of Grayling Ave., Narberth, and ardent supporter of an improved, paved Hampden Ave., appeared again before Narberth's Borough Council Monday night.

Mrs. Marshall asked the Council to hold a public hearing for the residents of Hampden and Grayling Aves., to "settle the question of action taken toward solving the problem of paving Hampden Ave."

Paving Hampden Ave., long a disputed question in Narberth, has been brought up at Borough Council meetings several times. Residents of the area have requested that Council cut the street through from Windsor to Woodbine Ave., and Council has stated that as Hampden Ave. is not a public street, the residents would have to pay a certain percentage of the cost.

Walter A. Fox, Council president, asked Mrs. Marshall if her husband had not received petitions drawn up by Borough Solicitor Henry A. Frye, which Marshall each offender.

Hourly Rates Advanced For Foremen, Drivers And Laborers

Borough Council members voted Monday night to raise the salaries of the Borough secretary, Public Works Superintendent, and laborers.

In a report made by William S. Thompson, chairman of the Council Highway committee, salaries of Borough workmen were raised from $1 to $1.10 for foremen, from 90c to $1 for drivers, and from 80c to 90c for laborers. The rates are subject to time and one-half after nine hours daily and for time worked on Sundays and holidays.

The salary boost was the first made to Borough employees since 1943, and will become effective November 1, 1947.

The proposed raise for workmen will increase expenses of the Highway department $202.20 per month, or $260 per year for each employee in the department. Over a year the new rates will increase the department expenses approximately $2426.40.

Rates paid in Lower Merion Township for similar work are from 93c an hour to $1.22½ for foremen, 81c an hour for drivers, and from 84c to 94c an hour for laborers.

The Borough secretary and the Public Works superintendent, Mrs. Ruth W. Grace and George B. Suples, received flat increases of $324 and $358.

CORRECTION

In the story which appeared in last week's issue of OUR TOWN regarding the proposed new gasoline station to be built in Narberth, it was incorrectly stated that the building permit issued to the Tidewater Associated Oil Company had been delayed a year by Borough officials.

The first petition to have borough ordinances changed to provide for additional gasoline stations within Borough limits was made to Council in August, 1946. In October, 1946, the Borough Council held a public hearing and changed the ordinance. The oil company only two weeks ago applied for a building permit. The delay was caused by material shortages.

WARNING TO SPEEDERS

Attention, all speeders! Narberth Burgess, Richard L. Miller, announced Monday night that Narberth speed/laws are being strictly enforced in an effort to reduce speeding through the town during rush hours.

Miller stated that Borough policemen are being aided by members of the Lower Merion police motorcycle squad.

The officers are centering their efforts mainly in the Narberth and Haverford Avenue section during the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Enrollment of Colleges Raises

Bryn Mawr Only One Near Normal, Survey Shows

Main Line colleges are suffering growing pains, according to a recent survey conducted among the larger colleges in the area.

But although the enrollment has leaped to almost double that of earlier years, the colleges themselves, with the exception of one, have not grown in proportion.

The one exception is Villanova College, Rosemont, which is expanding to the extent of erecting pre-fabricated buildings for dormitories on the eastern end of the campus, and new chemical engineering, naval science and library buildings on the western end.

The enrollment at Villanova has increased from 900 in 1940 to 2300 in 1947, and the teaching staff has increased from 62 to 132.

At Haverford College, while there has been almost no building increase, the enrollment has grown from 350 to 549. For every application the college accepted, officials refused nine. Ideal enrollment, the college directors stated, was 400.

At Bryn Mawr College, however, enrollment has not been greatly increased. In 1940 there were 504 students and in 1947 there are 541, a figure 35 less than in a year ago.

GOP Candidates At Ardmore Rally

Congressman Urges Faith in American Way of Life

Republican candidates for Montgomery County offices were entertained Wednesday night at a pre-election rally by committee men and women and workers of Lower Merion Township and Narberth Borough.

The meeting, held at the Ardmore Woman's Clubhouse, was conducted by John A. Lafore, Jr., chairman of the Lower Merion Township Republican Committee, and candidate for County Controller.

Prior to the presentation of candidates, Congressman Samuel K. McConnell, Jr., spoke briefly, urging continued faith in the American way of life.

State Senator Lloyd H. Wood, chairman of the Montgomery County Republican Committee, introduced the candidates.

Good government, as it is practiced in Montgomery County and in Lower Merion Township and Narberth Borough, was the keynote of the candidates' messages.

Senator Wood paid particular tribute to the statesmanship and the political leadership of County Commissioner Fred C. Peters, Republican organization leader and candidate for re-election.

E. Arnold Forrest, president of the Montgomery County Bar Association and candidate for District Attorney, advised his audience to be proud to be called "politicians."

"Politics," he said, "is the science of good government. Good government doesn't just happen; it is necessary to have party organization in order to sustain our system of party responsibility as opposed to individualism."

Mrs. Mary H. Beerer, candidate for re-election as Register of Wills, called for a heavy vote at the November 4 election to "lay the groundwork for 1948, which will

Joseph C. Snyder Receives Citation

Commander Joseph C. Snyder, USNR, of 300 Narberth Ave., Narberth, recently received a commendation for meritorious service as operations officer on the staff of the director of ship material, during the atom bomb tests in Bikini Lagoon last year.

Admiral W. H. Blandy, USN, made the commendation, and it was presented to Commander Snyder by Vice Admiral J. L. Kaufman, USN, Commandant of the Fourth Naval District. The citation reads as follows:

"For meritorious service as Operations Officer on the Staff of the Director of Ship Material during Operation CROSSROADS from April 1 to September 2, 1946. Displaying unusual intelligence, skill and tact, and exercising superior judgment and administrative ability, Commander Joseph C. Snyder organized and operated the Command Information Center for the Director of Ship Material. In addition, he served as the Administrative Officer for the Target Preparation and Inspection Office, contributing to the efficiency of that office. His work aided materially in the successful conduct of the Atomic Bomb Tests."

He is survived by two sons, Horace Wamamaker Jr., with whom he lived, and W. Wells Wamamaker, of Allentown; and a granddaughter, Susan Wamamaker. His wife, Sarah Hezlep Wamamaker, died seven years ago.

Looks Like 'Too Many Cooks' Planning Highway Feeders

Officials of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department know nothing of a turnpike feeder route through residential sections of Lower Merion Township described last week by an official of the Philadelphia City Planning Commission.

Speaking before the Main Line Chamber of Commerce last Wednesday, Raymond F. Leonard, of the city planning board, was reported to have discussed a through-route from northern Philadelphia to the Schuylkill and across between "Gladwyne and an outer extension of Bala-Cynwyd."

Township residents may remember a proposal set forth by the Tri-State Regional Planning Federation about 15 years ago. The federation proposed construction of a bridge across the Schuylkill, and a wide highway through estates and other properties near Gladwyne, in Lower Merion Township, and on through Haverford Township in Delaware County.

Civic Associations and property owners rose up in protest and succeeded in defeating the proposal.

As matters stand today, it is definitely planned that the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be extended into eastern Pennsylvania. It is also planned to construct feeder routes to connect the turnpike terminus with eastern centers.

The confusion lies in a seeming lack of understanding as to just who is in charge of what.

The Turnpike Commission is in complete charge of the Turnpike. From the terminus point on, the State Highway Department is in sole charge. Until the Turnpike Commission establishes a terminus, the feeder routes cannot be accurately determined.

However, on a strong possibility that the terminus point will be at Howellville, a few miles north of Paoli, the highway department has charted three possible feeder routes, only one of which will even touch Lower Merion, and all of which will completely by-pass Haverford Township.

The tentative route to Philadelphia proceeds north out of Howellville on Route 202, and swings on a gentle arc through King of Prussia to River Rd., in Gladwyne, and on to the West River Drive.

Bank Asks Council For Sidewalk on Haverford Avenue

Narberth Borough Council received a letter from Carl B. Metzger, Jr., cashier of the National Bank of Narberth, asking that a sidewalk be built on Haverford Ave., from Conway Ave. to Wynnewood Rd.

Metzger cited the fact that traffic was increasing almost daily on Haverford Ave., and the lack of a sidewalk made the Narberth business district almost inaccessible to nearby residents who had to walk along the roadway.

His letter stated that residents of the Wynnewood Park Apartments and the new apartments being built on Lancaster Ave. near Wynnewood Rd., were prospective customers of Narberth, and the entrance to Narberth from that area was not safe for pedestrians.

H. Wamamaker Dies of Injuries In Auto Accident

Services for Prominent Narberth Resident Held On Monday Afternoon

Funeral services for Horace Wamamaker, Sr., of 210 Essex Ave., Narberth, nephew of the founder of the John Wamamaker Store, and a resident of Narberth for the past 27 years, were held from Oliver H. Bahr's Funeral Parlors, Philadelphia, Monday afternoon.

Mr. Wamamaker, who was 79, died of head injuries in Bryn Mawr Hospital last Thursday night, four hours after being struck by a car at Montgomery and Price Aves., Narberth.

Lower Merion Township police said the driver of the automobile was Mrs. Alma Diechler, 29, of Rosemont, wife of Dr. John Diechler. She was arrested on a technical charge of manslaughter and held under her own recognizance for an inquest to be conducted by the Montgomery County Coroner.

Mrs. Diechler testified that the victim was crossing Montgomery Ave. from north to south at Price Ave., as she approached driving east on Montgomery Ave. At the time she first saw him, she said, he was in the middle of the street.

She reported that he stopped upon seeing her, but started forward again as her machine neared him, and that she was unable to avoid hitting him.

Mr. Wamamaker, who was born in Philadelphia, was educated at the former Cheltenham Academy, and was associated with the John Wamamaker Store as transportation manager for 18 years before his retirement nine years ago.

A veteran of the Spanish-American War, he was a past commander of Naval Camp 1, Veterans of the Spanish-American War. He was also a member of the Narberth Presbyterian Church, and of the Founder's Association of the First Naval Battalion of Pennsylvania.

Interment was in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

He is survived by two sons, Horace Wamamaker Jr., with whom he lived, and W. Wells Wamamaker, of Allentown; and a granddaughter, Susan Wamamaker. His wife, Sarah Hezlep Wamamaker, died seven years ago.

Council Hears Committee Tell Need for Action

Plans Further Study Before Passing Ordinance

Narberth Borough Council on Monday night approved a committee recommendation to install parking meters in the Borough business district.

The recommendation, made by the Council's special committee on traffic and parking, was read by Robert M. Cameron, committee chairman. The report stated that the recommendation was made to provide a greater turnover in the available parking spaces in the Haverford Ave. business district and to aid in the enforcement of the existing time limit on parking.

It was recommended that meters be installed on the following streets:

Both sides of Haverford Ave., from Narberth Ave. to Essex Ave.; west side of Essex Ave., from Haverford Ave. to Windsor Ave.; both sides of Forrest Ave., from Haverford Ave. to Windsor Ave.; east side of north Narberth Ave., from the railroad bridge to Windsor Ave.; Station Circle, and both sides of Windsor Ave. to Essex Ave.

The recommendation also proposed a time limit of one hour for all parking meters with the exception of those on Windsor Ave., which should be two hours.

Cameron stated in his report that the meters will only partially aid in coping with Narberth's parking problem and that other steps will eventually have to be taken.

"These other steps," he said, "may include the provision, either by private enterprise or by the Borough of off-street parking facilities, cutting through of the proposed alley from Forrest to Essex Ave., the plotting of an alley from Station Circle to North Narberth Ave., amending the zoning ordinance to provide that future commercial buildings shall provide off-street loading and unloading facilities and parking facilities in proportion to the square feet of retail floor space."

Cameron's report was an answer to letters received by Borough Council from the Narberth Business Council stating that organization's approval of the installation of parking meters, which were read during the beginning of the meeting.

An ordinance providing for the meters was introduced at the meeting, but will be held over for further study by the Council members.

CHOOSING A CAREER:

INSURANCE

By JOHN F. BRENNAN

Assistant Manager Philadelphia Agency Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York

Life insurance as an institution is completely in tune with the economic, political and social basis on which this country rests. Its goal is security, achieved by individual effort, for every man, woman and child in these United States.

The institution of life insurance is based on the free cooperative association of men who desire a common goal and who feel a responsibility to stand firmly on their own feet and provide for their own families in their own way. At the same time it represents a realization of the social aim of sharing risk among the fortunate and those less fortunate, but it accomplishes that end without destroying the self-respect of the less fortunate. Thus today the citizens of no other country in the world can boast the economic security which has been achieved by 73 million American policyholders through their own efforts.

An industry that benefits its owners twice over—by providing security in the first place and capital to raise their standards of living in the second—an industry with the high and unselfish ideals of life insurance demands men and women of equally high calibre to staff it and to offer lifelong service to its policyholders.

The industry's emphasis therefore has been more and more on this point that the man or woman who sells insurance should make that as much a "career" as the man who buys insurance makes it his "career" to provide for his family now and in the future.

The profession of life insurance selling therefore makes great demands in patience, ability, ideals, intelligence and application on the man who would service policyholders. The industry has made great strides in the selection and training of personnel. Through years of experience there have been developed aptitude and personality tests which are amazingly accurate in predetermining whether an applicant will be successful as a life underwriter. For the "career" life underwriter is concerned not with selling a product, but with selling the product that best fits the needs of his client today, with adjusting that product as the client's needs change tomorrow, and with servicing that client and his family for many tomorrows ahead.

The system of training and education has been greatly improved. In addition to excellent training courses, the "case method" of study has been developed so that the new associate may learn and earn at the same time. Personal assistance in the selection of a career will be outlined at a seminar to be conducted free at the Mutual Life of Philadelphia Agency offices at 1516 Locust St. Classes will be held each Monday night for six weeks, beginning on September 29. Veterans and college men and women are especially invited.

D.A.R. Chapter Holds Meeting in Historic Mansion

Sarah Lowry Gives Talk On Strawberry Mansion At Wednesday Meeting

Miss Sarah Lowry spoke on the history of Strawberry Mansion, Fairmont Park, at a meeting of the Thomas Leiper Chapter, D. A. R., held last Wednesday at Strawberry Mansion.

Miss Lowry stated that the early patriots not only had first to make the decision to support the colonies, but had also to support their decisions in the face of hostile opposition.

Strawberry Mansion was first occupied by Charles Thompson, secretary of the first Continental Congress, who wrote the first draft of the Declaration of Independence. It was then known as Somerset House.

In 1778 the house was ransacked and burned to the ground by British troops. Several years later it was rebuilt, and strawberry plants, imported from Chile, gave it the name by which it is now known.

Mrs. James P. Price, of Oreland, and Mrs. James Francis Cooke, of 38 Llanberis Rd., Cynwyd, were hostesses at the tea which followed Miss Lowry's talk.

Urge $5000 Fund For Parking Lot

Ardmore Merchants' Plan Would Provide Space for 100 Cars

A proposal that merchants raise $5000 to provide parking space for their patrons was made at the Ardmore Business Association meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Ardmore Bowling Alley.

At present there is room for shoppers to park only 18 cars on the north side of Lancaster Ave. in Ardmore and the time limit is regulated by parking meters.

The new parking space the merchants are talking about is in the rear of a row of stores on the north side of Lancaster Ave. and in the rear of the Bell Telephone Co. building and the Ardmore Theatre on the south side. This would provide parking space for nearly 100 cars.

The proposal to raise the $5000 came from John Levy, who is connected with Harrison's Store in the rear of which part of the new parking space would be located.

The merchants donated $50 for prizes in the Halloween parade which will be held mischief night, October 30. They also appointed a committee to plan for Christmas street decorations.

George H. Duck, chairman of the entertainment committee for the "Montgomery County Industries on Parade" exposition, announced this week that a large number of gifts will be given away November 12, 13, 14 and 15.
The gifts, all made by Montgomery County industries, will be given to visitors at Norristown City Hall on those days. Tickets are being distributed by industries and business houses now.

"A program of special days is being arranged," general chairman A. Warren Schwartz said, "and a number of prominent officials are being invited to participate."

Main Line Athlete On Wesleyan Team

A former star Lower Merion High School athlete, Richard A. Whiting, is one of the main factors this year in Wesleyan University's drive for a third consecutive undefeated football team. Whiting, who won All-Suburban and All-Scholastic recognition for his performance prior to graduating from Lower Merion in 1944, holds down right end for the Middletown, Conn. eleven who will be seen in this area November 1st when they are entertained by Haverford College.
Last season Whiting, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Whiting, of 410 Penn Rd., Wynnewood, appeared frequently in a substitute role as the Cardinals emerged from a difficult schedule as one of the five undefeated, untied major college teams in the country, winning particular plaudits as he took a pass and went 67 yards for a touchdown against traditional rival Amherst. Already this year, the local youth blocked a kick to set up a Wesleyan score in their 19-0 opening victory over Worcester Tech, and his hard-charging defensive play helped bottle the University of Connecticut as the Red and Black scored a 12-0 upset.

Football

for the Ghosts and Johnny Triplett, the State sprint star, place-kicked both extra points.

Rebounding with a 78-yard advance early in the fourth period, the Mattemans finally reached pay dirt when ailing Len Shepherd plunged over from the one. Shepherd sparked the attack even though he had been plagued by an attack of gripple. Soon after, the Aces accounted for their second six-pointer, with a 24-yard thrust, Harry Barton going the final 15.

Don Shaver booted both extra points to tie the score at 14. That set the stage for Lower Merion's final drive. The alert Mike Venezia, left guard, provided the opening wedge, falling upon Shaver's kick-off as it bounded untouched on Abington's 21. L. M. netted six yards on three plays, then Shepherd tossed a pass to Tom Davis in the end zone for the conqueror. Shaver again kicked the point.

Meanwhile, Haverford High—which has failed to score a single point all season—dropped its third decision to Cheltenham Friday in a Big Six game at Elkins Park. 13-0. Cheltenham's Panthers scored a touchdown in each of the last two periods.

Ed Charters, fullback, led the Panthers as Cheltenham struck twice through the air late in the third period. In all, the homesters covered 60 yards, with Charters going over from the two in the last of three line smashes.

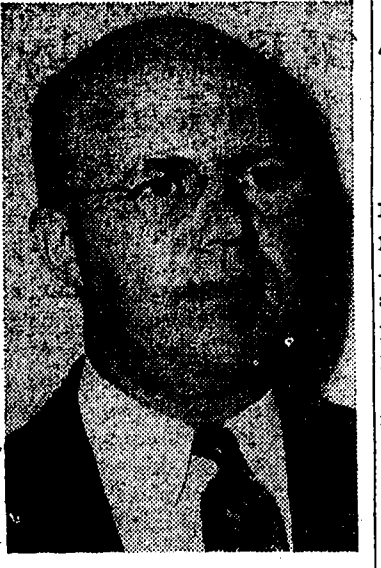

Late in the final period, Charters touched off a 27-yard drive with a 14-yard sprint. Charlie Messina then took command to score with a goal line smash. Messina also contributed the extra point following the first touchdown, with a plunge.

Table Humphrey's Ave. Extension
Resident Threatens to Erect Toll Gate

An ordinance which will permit Haverford Township to cut Humphreys Ave. through to Chestnut Ave. was tabled Monday night after commissioners heard the proposed extension discussed by proponents of both sides.

The ordinance will come up for final consideration at the commissioners' meeting on Monday night, November 10.

Appearing in favor of the proposed extension was Anthony M. Coladonato, of 2718 East County Line Rd., who owns lots 102 and 103, across which the new road will run.

Coladonato explained that he had planned to use lots 102 and 103 to build homes for his sons, just returned from service. When he applied for building permits they were refused, because the township was planning the cut-through. Instead, Coladonato told the commissioners, he had planted a garden on the lots. But, he said, residents of both Humphreys Ave. and St. Mary's Road cut through his garden, and have worn a path across it.

"All day long they come," he said. "Women with baby carriages, children on bicycles, men hurrying to work. So I am asking you: Please build this new road; or I am going to put up a toll gate and charge ten cents to cross my lot!"

Commissioners explained to Coladonato that, when and if the ordinance is finally passed, he will be compensated for the loss of his ground, and can then go ahead with the proposed new houses for his sons, one of whom appeared with him at the hearing.

H. Lester Haws, Ardmore attorney, appeared on behalf of James Bell, in opposition to the proposed new road. Bell, who owns lots 106 and 107, has a home at 757 Humphreys Road, valued at approximately $15,000, according to his lawyer. The new road would run through his property for 80 feet. It would destroy his privacy and deteriorate the value of the residence, Haws said.

Also opposed to the new road was Antonio Travolini, of 830 Biddle Ave., Ardmore, owner of lots 104 and 105. Travolini, who was represented by L. A. Talone, Norristown attorney, contended that he was opposed to the road because he had purchased the lots in order to build houses on them, and was prevented from doing so by the proposed ordinance. He also insisted that residents of Humphreys Ave. already had access to Chestnut Ave. by other means.

D. A. Cameron Injured by Auto

DeLancey A. Cameron, 76, of 61 Station Rd., Haverford, formerly of Narberth, was seriously injured Wednesday night when he was knocked down by an automobile near his home.

According to Lower Merion police, Cameron was crossing Montgomery Ave. at Haverford Station Rd., at 7:05 P. M., when he was struck by a car driven by Ernest Willoughby, 52, of the Wynnewood Plaza Apartments, Wynnewood.

Willoughby, director of music at the Baldwin School, Bryn Mawr, told police Cameron stepped into the path of his car as he drove west on Montgomery Ave. He took the injured man to Bryn Mawr Hospital, where physicians said he suffered a compound fracture of the lower right leg and head injuries.

Cameron, an engineer with the Claro Construction Co., Philadelphia, is a graduate of Yale University's Sheffield School, class of 1891. He is the father of Robert M. Cameron, of Narberth, former Main Line newspaperman and now publicity director for the Automobile Association of America.

Soley was flying low over the Bryn Mawr Horse Show grounds last week, according to police. Although there were no official complaints, William Hall, a policeman from the West Reading barracks took the number of the plane, investigated, and found that Soley was employed in Norristown and lived in Garrett Hill at the home of his father, George J. Soley.

Kromer said this was the first time he had ever imposed a fine on an airplane pilot.

JOE FULKS
Ace of the Philadelphia Warriors, struts his stuff at Lower Merion High Wednesday. He set an all-time scoring record of 1611 points in 70 games last season, an average of 23 a game.

Warriors Play Vets In Opener Oct. 22

The Philadelphia Warriors, defending champions of the pro Basketball Association of America, will play 28 games at home this season, according to a schedule released today by Peter A. Tyrrell, president and general manager of The Arena. Four games will be played at Convention Hall, the same as last year, while the Ice Follies takes over The Arena for its annual engagement right after Christmas. All others will be staged on the 46th and Market Sts. courts. The Warriors will open their season at Ardmore against the Lower Merion Veterans Wednesday, October 22. They'll make their first appearance at The Arena October 28 against the Toledo Jeps, of the National League, runnersup in the national pro tournament at Chicago last year.

SPORTS SCENE

By JACK FORD
It could happen here. Not that it's likely to, understand, but it's not beyond the realm of possibility for Haverford High's football team to topple Lower Merion on Saturday. After all, anything is possible in sports—and stranger things have happened. Haverford hasn't won a game or scored a point this season, true. Meanwhile, Lower Merion has been steamrolling all opposition. Extended only by Abington last week, the Ardmore Aces rallied to win 21-14. But if Haverford happens to suddenly catch fire, and Lower Merion suffers the almost inevitable let-down, watch out! If, for example, Haverford's Bud Arnold, broke loose for an early touchdown, the Fords probably would hang on for dear life and battle like a leopard at bay. If, on the other hand, Lower Merion comes up with a quick score, adds another before the Fords finally regain their breath, look for a rout. The Aces would, in all probability, disintegrate before the fury of L. M.'s attack. Personally, if we were either coach, we'd rather see Bill Stinebaugh in position for this one game. Haverford has everything to gain and nothing to lose. If the Ford cack can instill some degree of confidence and spirit into his team, the Aces' well-drilled, veteran squad could become over-confident, just a bit too cocky Saturday. If we were Dick Mattis and Fritz Brennan, we would be his uneasy tonight over the outcome of tomorrow's traditional battle.

Lower Merion has been riding the victory crest all season. The Aces' well-drilled, veteran squad could become over-confident, just a bit too cocky Saturday. If we were Dick Mattis and Fritz Brennan, we would be his uneasy tonight over the outcome of tomorrow's traditional battle. Injuries have been handicapping both Haverford and Lower Merion all season, but the Fords probably have been hit hardest. Bud Arnold, key man in Haverford's offense, first was hobbled by a leg injury. Later, he suffered a badly sprained hand which interfered with his ball handling. Len Shepherd, Lower Merion captain and backfield bulwark, who seems destined for All-Scholastic recognition again this year, has been plagued by an attack of grippe in the last couple of contests. But if illness tended to slow Len, it wasn't readily apparent to any of us. M. M. opponent would have to encounter the Aces when Shepherd is enjoying good health, if past performances are any sample!

It's still a little early to name top performers throughout the nation, but it appears evident the gridiron veterans will have to consider Villanova's Bob Polidor. Polidor already holds a nationwide reputation because of his 100-yard touchdown dash against Miami in 1946. Now his halfback play and as a safety man stamps him as one of the most elusive backs in the East. A deceptive runner with a great change of pace, Polidor is the fastest well-dribbled vet in the Main Line club. He generally tops the daily sprinters Coach Jordan Oliver conducts. Polidor, a junior from Philadelphia, weighs 165 pounds. Still another lightweight attracting attention is 155-pound Bill Doherty, quarterback. The smallest member of the Villanova squad, Doherty is a keen strategist and undoubtedly one of the best defensive backs for his size in the country. The Wilmington, Del., dynamo gave Army runners plenty of trouble with his snappy tackling. He came right back to spill Miami's Holy Cross runners before they got started. Doherty also excels in another defensive department—pass interceptions. He topped the Villanova squad last season and appears well on the way to repeating this season. Bill had two against Kings Point and ended a Miami drive when he snaggd an aerial on the two-yard line.
